

Division of Occupational Safety and Health

1-800-423-7233

www.Lni.wa.gov/Safety

En español

www.Seguridad.Lni.wa.gov

CONTACT US TO

Report a workplace death
Report an injury requiring hospitalization

1-800-423-7233

WORKPLACE
SAFETY AND HEALTH

Find useful information inside

Washington State Department of Labor & Industries

Division of Occupational Safety and Health

► For Workers

- You have the right to a safe workplace and the right to report a workplace safety or health hazard to Labor & Industries.
www.WorkplaceRights.Lni.wa.gov
- It is against the law for your boss to retaliate against you for reporting a hazard. Call 1-800-423-7233 and let us know if this has happened to you.
- Hurt at work? Report it to your supervisor. It is against the law for your boss to retaliate against you for filing a workers' compensation claim.
www.InjuredWorker.Lni.wa.gov
- If you are a working teen, learn your rights and limitations: www.TeenWorkers.Lni.wa.gov

► For Employers

It is your responsibility to provide a workplace free of safety and health hazards.

- Do you need help building an effective safety program?
www.Lni.wa.gov/Safety/GettingStarted
- For individual help, consider a safety or industrial hygiene consultation.
www.SafetyConsultants.Lni.wa.gov
- Find all of Washington's workplace safety rules.
www.SafetyRules.Lni.wa.gov
- Get all legally required posters for free.
www.Posters.Lni.wa.gov
- Or just call us for help at 1-800-423-7233.

► Safety Training

- Safety and health training materials are available online.
www.Lni.wa.gov/Safety/TrainingPrevention
- Find a video or other resource to beef up training: www.Videos.Lni.wa.gov
- Have an idea to improve safety? Consider applying for a grant to make it happen.
www.SafetyGrants.Lni.wa.gov
- Find alerts and bulletins covering industry hazards: www.HazardAlerts.Lni.wa.gov

