

WASHINGTON STATE LOGGER SAFETY INITIATIVE

Keeping Washington loggers safe.

Talkie Tooter anyone?

Q: Do I have to have a permit to operate a radio signaling system for the logging industry in the state of Washington?

A: Yes, everyone who uses a radio signaling system in the logging industry in the state of Washington must have a permit issued by the Department of Labor & Industries.

Q: How long does it take to get a permit?

A: The permit is processed quickly and you should receive it within a few weeks.

L&I has a simple topic page on this subject containing information about permitting and an easy-to-use downloadable application form.

<http://www.lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/LicensingReq/TalkieTooters/default.asp>