INSTRUCTIONS TO ALL APPLICANTS

Fill out the application correctly and completely. Failure to provide the correct information in all of the appropriate sections of the application shall be deemed sufficient cause for rejection of the application by the Plumber Certification Section, Specialty Compliance Services Division.

MEDICAL GAS EXAMINATION APPLICANTS

The examination is required by regulation (WAC296-400A-022) to evaluate the applicant seeking a medical gas endorsement for the State of Washington.

The examination is designed to measure your knowledge of the requirements of the currently adopted medical gas code. The established MINIMUM score required to successfully complete the examination is 70%.

The Washington State medical gas examination is an open book exam based on the NFPA 99C Gas and Vacuum Systems.

JOURNEYMAN AND RESIDENTIAL SPECIALTY PLUMBER EXAMINATION APPLICANTS

The examination is required by regulation (RCW 18.106.050) to evaluate the applicant seeking a certificate of competency for the State of Washington as a qualified Journeyman or Residential Specialty plumber.

The examination is designed to measure your ability in these areas of knowledge:

1. The general knowledge of technical information and practical procedures which are a necessary part of the trade and calling of a Journeyman or Residential Specialty plumber;
2. A specific knowledge of the requirements of the Uniform Plumbing Code with amendments as adopted by the State of Washington and their interpretations.

The examination consists of three parts:

1. Technical and general trade knowledge.
2. Code application knowledge for waste and vents.
3. Code application for water piping.

Note: One, two or more story buildings on drawings for journeyman plumber examination.

The established MINIMUM score required to successfully complete the examination is 70% on each of the three parts.

Effective January 1, 2008, the journeyman and residential specialty examination will be based on the 2006 Uniform Plumbing Code with the Washington state amendments. You are urged to study the publications thoroughly in preparation for the state plumbers examination.

PUMP AND IRRIGATION AND DOMESTIC PUMP SPECIALTY PLUMBER EXAMINATION APPLICANTS

The examination is required by regulation RCW 18.106.050 to evaluate the applicant seeking a certificate of competency for the state of Washington as a qualified specialty plumber.

The examination is designed to measure your knowledge of technical, practical procedures, and general trade knowledge of the National Ground Water Association manual.
