

Compressed Air and Tanks

If your business uses compressed air systems, boilers or other pressurized tanks or vessels, then these tanks and vessels need to be inspected and permitted. See www.Lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/Boilers. Call 360-902-6400 or email Boiler@Lni.wa.gov.

Mobile and Manufactured Units

If your business will use, modify or build mobile food or medical facilities, modular or portable buildings, trailers, RVs, manufactured homes, or other similar structures, then you must have each structure permitted and inspected. See www.Lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/FAS.

Getting up-to-speed on regulations for Washington businesses?

Remember to check on requirements with L&I.

The Department of Labor & Industries (L&I) can answer questions and provide resources to help your business comply with state laws, rules and regulations. A quick summary of L&I's business requirements is below or go to www.Lni.wa.gov/Business Requirements for more details.

Independent Contractors

Many independent contractors and most people providing casual labor are considered your employees under Washington law.

Learn who and what you're responsible for as the "employer". Get a free guide at www.Lni.wa.gov/IndependentContractor or call Employer Services at 360-902-4817.

Employers

Wage and hour laws and workers' compensation insurance laws apply when your business employs workers. See www.Lni.wa.gov/ForBusiness or call 1-866-219-7321 for wage and hour, or 360-902-4817 for workers' comp information.

If you have employees, make sure you're following safety laws, including having a written accident prevention program. See www.Lni.wa.gov/Safety or call L&I's Division of Safety & Health at 1-800-423-7233.

Construction-Related Businesses

Most construction-related activities require contractor registration and compliance with contractor advertising laws. If your business provides construction, remodeling or repair services, or related work such as painting or installing floor coverings; develops property or fixes up and then sells ("flip") homes; or manages or consults on construction or landscaping projects, then certain state laws apply to your business. See www.Lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/Contractors.

Call 1-800-647-0982 or email ContReg@Lni.wa.gov with questions.

Wiring

If your business works with low or high voltage wiring, or installs or maintains electrically powered equipment, it must have the proper electrical licensing and permits. See www.Lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/Electrical or call 360-902-5269.

Elevators and Related Equipment

If your business has an elevator, escalator, moving walk, or other type of conveyance equipment, then this equipment must be inspected and permitted. See www.Lni.wa.gov/TradesLicensing/Elevators. Call 1-800-705-1411 or email ElevatorSect@Lni.wa.gov.
