

Lni.wa.gov/espanol

Un sitio web. Dos idiomas. | One website. Two languages.

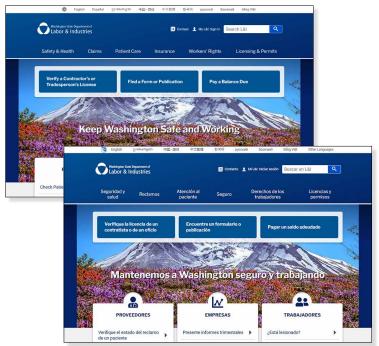

Lni.wa.gov is now bilingual!

Lni.wa.gov is now in both Spanish and English, making it easier for people who speak Spanish to engage with the Washington State Department of Labor & Industries (L&I) online. For instance, you can now easily find information in Spanish on how to file a safety or wage complaint, and what to do if you were injured at work.

The new normal: One website. Two languages.

Every page is in Spanish and English, and looks and works the same in both languages. That's more than 650 pages of information in Spanish!

English: Lni.wa.gov

Spanish: Lni.wa.gov/espanol

L&I now has the same high-quality web content in Spanish and English with the exception of some links, files and tools. Alert notifications make it easy to identify content not in Spanish and provide users with other options.

How to view L&I's content in Spanish

Option 1: If Spanish is your preferred language in your browser settings, Lni.wa.gov automatically displays in Spanish.

Option 2: To change languages from any page, select "Español" or "English" in the top left corner.

Option 3: To view L&I's homepage in Spanish directly, go to Lni.wa.gov/espanol.

On return visits, the website automatically displays in the language you last used on the site.

What's not available in Spanish?

- Content requiring users to login, like My L&I, Pay a Balance Due, QuickFile, etc.
- Interactive content, including search and lookup tools, calculators, and electronic forms (e.g., Safety Topics search, Verify a Contractor's License lookup, Onsite Consultation form, Find a Form or Publication search, etc.).
- Forms and publications not previously available in Spanish.
